2.14 ACO-PRO SERIES SKINS CHAMPIONSHIP BRACKET

Call Out Format

- Round #1: The players with the top eight (8) Frame Games will "call out" their opponents from the bottom (8) players, with the highest-seeded player choosing first and so on.
- The "call-out" format will continue for the Quarter Finals and Semi Finals.

ACO Skins Format

- Each game will be worth a total of 13 "Skins".
- Each Frame of a game is equal to one 1 Skin.
- A Player earns a Skin by outscoring their opponent during the given Frame. It doesn't matter if they are outscored by 10 points or 1 point, the result is winning 1 Skin.
- Each Skin is worth a certain dollar value.
- If the Frame is a push, then that Skin carries over to the next Frame, and so on.
 - » Example: During Frame #1 of the game, Player 1 and Player 2 "push" the Frame by each throwing 8pts. The Skin from Frame #1 now carries over, making Frame #2 worth 2 Skins.

- Once a Player wins 7 Skins, the game is over, and that player is the declared the winner and advances to the next round of the bracket.
- All remaining Skins of the original 13 will be awarded to the winner.

Example:

- » A Skin is valued at $25.
- » Player 1 wins the game by a score of 7 Skins to their opponent's 3 Skins.
- » The remaining 3 Skins will be added to the winner's total, equaling 10 Skins.
- » Player 1 will earn $250 for the game, and Player 2 will earn $75 for the game.

- All Skins will accumulate during the course of bracket play and each player will be paid according to the number of Skins earned during the entirety of the tournament. Each Skin is worth a certain dollar value.
- An ACO Official Director will score all games, keep track of Skins earned, and inform players of the value of upcoming Frames.

2.15 ACO-PRO SERIES STANDINGS

ACO-PRO Series Standings will be comprised of two elements:

- 1.) The player's total number of Skins earned during the course of the Season. Each Skin on the Standings will be represented by 12 points.
- 2.) The player's four (4) best ACO Frame Games. Each time a player improves on their ACO Frame Game, that score will be used in the Standings

NOTE: All ACO-PRO players who participate in the ACO Frame Game will earn their Frame Game score towards their Standings, regardless of advancing to the Championship Bracket or not.
